using camera, pen, and artist's brush. All of these—photos, words, and drawings—are necessary to portray in full dimension the portrait of our school.

When we visualize a picture of Howe, there comes to mind: the distinctive big clock on the tower, the spacious campus, the music and the wonderful mood of the "Brown and Gold," the games and cheering for the Hornets, the assembly programs, the busy classrooms, our favorite subjects, and the laughter-filled halls. These and many more contribute to the picture of Howe, but the people make it complete

Howe's picture

With the raising of the flag by the R.O.T.C. Color Guard, and the mad rush to get to class before the bell, another Howe day is under way.

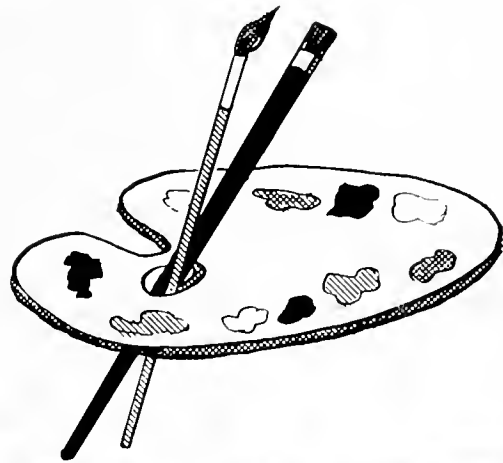

*Sherrie,

begins to take shape

Only the "early driver" catches the parking places, as more and more students are driving to school.

"Drag your feet—the brakes don't work!" could be one of the familiar cries coming from Howeites as they hurry down the hill into the student parking lot each morning.

While most Howeites live in the east side community of Irvington where Howe is located, some have to rise bright and early in order to get to school from outlying communities.

When you arrive at school a quick look down the locker-lined halls will reveal the kind of weather. On a rainy day you are apt to see umbrellas dripping from the locker handles for lack of space inside the locker.

In the spring Howeites are often reluctant to go to class, and halls remain crowded until the very last minute. But winter or spring it is always necessary to say hello to friends and take a last minute look at the textbook before the big exam.

The flag raising, the sprint from the parking lot, the gab session at the locker with friends—all these are part of the starting of Howe's day.

A last minute check of the locker to see if she has everything and Mary Lois Holaday is off to class.

Monte Welch, Marilyn Watts and Ronnie Lisby discuss campaign posters during the mock election.

Classes make the school. In order to meet graduation requirements, every Howeite's program includes English, social studies, mathematics, health, physical education, and science.

Our picture of the curriculum would not be complete if we omitted the government classes. Here Howeites gain a full knowledge of government principles and procedures, and through this course learn how to be better citizens.

As part of the course the students conduct a mock election, to become acquainted with voting procedures.

Required classes

Frances Russell and Richard Vandabark work on a distillation problem in chemistry. Howe also offers biology and physics. Students planning to enter fields of medicine or science often take all three lab sciences.

Another part of the curriculum is the college preparatory program. When a student enrolls in college he can save much valuable time and improve his chances for success if he has met college entrance requirements in high school.

The college-bound student usually includes geometry in his program, along with foreign language, algebra, and English VII and VIII. But he still has room for a variety of elective courses.

Carol Story proves that the angles are equal. Students of geometry learn to reason out proofs of theorems.

provide basic knowledge

Girls get daily exercise, keep fit, and have fun in Howe's Physical Education classes. Even though all Howeites are required to take at least one year of this course, many go on for all four years. Here a class demonstrates that they have "more bounce to the ounce."

Future homemakers manipulate the "pots and pans" as they practice their culinary skills.

Another part of the picture of Howe is the curriculum of requested subjects. Students planning to enter some specialized field for their vocation find these courses helpful. Under the heading of requested subjects we find art, R.O.T.C., speech, home economics, foreign languages, clerical practice, shorthand, and wood and metal shop.

Requested classes help

Just naming the Howe art department really covers a variety of courses. Included are craft art, fine arts, plastics, art molding, fashions, lettering, and jewelry.

Ken Littell molds a bowl on the potters wheel in art class. This is one of the practical and useful techniques taught in the art department.

Bob Haggard trades in his no-longer-needed "Columbus System" of hunt, discover, and land for the better method of the "Touch System."

Howeites plan their careers

Howe's business education department offers a curriculum for the student who just wants to type his college themes as well as for the one who plans a business career. Among the courses offered in the business field are shorthand, machine calculation, office practice, filing, business law, and bookkeeping.

The foreign language department teaches the student to speak as well as to read the languages of Latin and Spanish. Although Howe does not at present offer French as a class, there is a French Club for interested students.

Sandra Johnson and Lois Sebree "hear themselves as others hear them." They are experimenting with a recorder used in the Spanish Department.

and Beverly Jenkins, and little Ann Baugh are enjoying the Pageant and awaiting the Philosopher's report.

Queen visits Violet Hill

Pat Scheele reigned as queen of the Seventeenth annual May Pageant celebrating Howe's birthday.

Philosopher Bob Doyal read the history of Howe and told the queen of the school's accomplishments during the past year.

Physical Education and Music Departments entertained the queen with interpretive dancing and musical selections which added to the festivity of the Pageant.

The May Pageant is a Howe tradition enjoyed by the entire student body. It is held on Violet Hill in front of the school where legend says the Violet Queen held court before Howe was built.

The queen and her court are chosen from Vihota, the junior girls' club. The Philosopher is chosen from the Senior Hi-Y Club.

Philosopher Bob Doyal reviews the history of Howe on Violet Hill to Queen Pat.

Who will govern the state of Howe? Federalists Kent Stewart and Cliff Oilar, and Nationalists Dick Patterson and Bob Hibner try to catch a "sneak preview" of trends at the voting machine.

Another side of the mock election scene is the state political convention held by each party. Social studies classes are named for cities and send delegates to represent them at the convention.

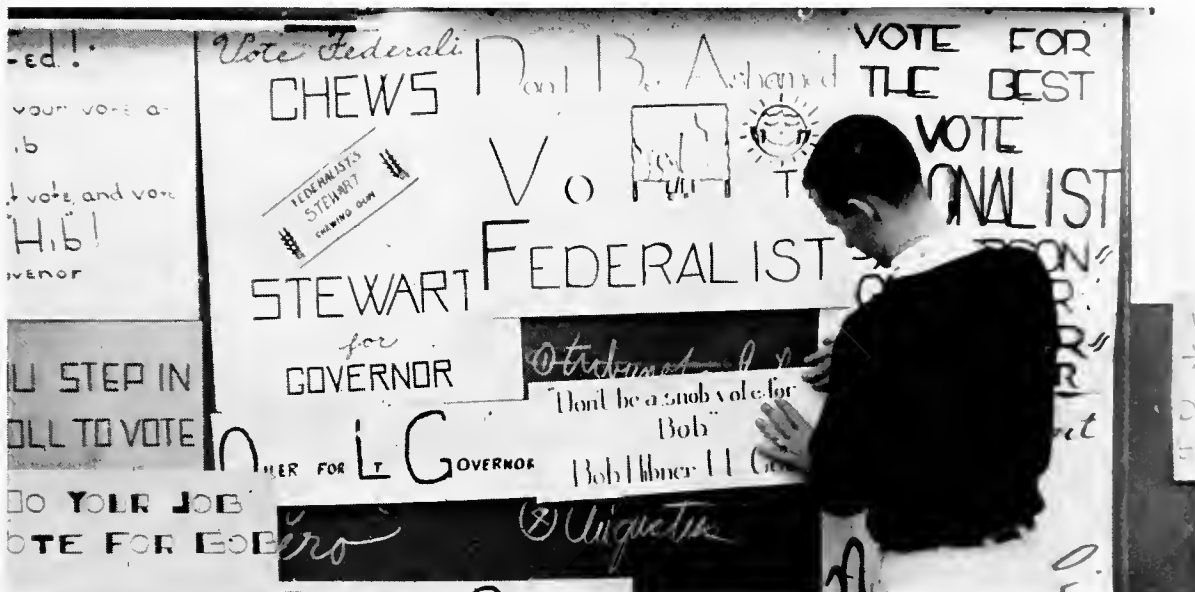

The excitement of the convention gets underway with delegates making nominations from the floor and spontaneous speeches for their candidates.

Candidates flavor their campaign speeches with such promises as coke in the water fountains, 4-day school-week, no homework, and air conditioning in hot weather.

Stewart rules State of Howe

Posters, posters, and more posters are used by each party to influence the voters for their candidates.

Among the many activities at Howe, dances rank as a favorite with Howeites. Whether it's an after school informal dance with records like the Winter Wonderland, freshman mixer, and sock hops, or a formal affair like the Brown & Gold, and Junior Prom, and semi-formal Hi-Y Sweetheart dance with a band and all the trimmings, Howeites are always fit as fiddles and raring to go.

Brown Boy Bob and Golden Girl Yolanda lead off the dancing following the announcement of their election.

Dances add sparkle

Howeites look forward to the biggest dance of the year, the Brown and Gold. The semi-formal dance is sponsored annually in October by the HILLTOPPER to raise money for the yearbook.

To make sure the dance is a gala occasion, a Brown Boy and Golden Girl reign as King and Queen. Junior and Senior classes each nominate two boys and two girls for Brown

Boy and Golden Girl candidates. These candidates are announced at the annual HILLTOPPER assembly. Everyone who purchases a HILLTOPPER receives a ballot to vote for his favorite candidates who are crowned at the dance. This year's Brown Boy and Golden Girl were Bob Hibner and Yolanda Parker.

Posing in the alcove are Hi-Y Sweetheart candidates, Ann Schumacher, Donna Collier, Janet Gilpin, Sally Shake, and Marcia Graves.

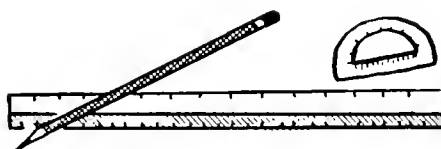

to Howe's picture

Each year in the early spring the Senior and Beta Hi-Y Clubs sponsor the Hi-Y Sweetheart Dance. Members nominate five Howe girls as candidates for Sweetheart and the students who attend the dance elect the queen. At the intermission ceremony, Donna Collier was crowned the Hi-Y Sweetheart of 1956.

The Winter Wonderland Dance, an informal affair held just before Christmas vacation, turns the tables and elects a king instead of a queen. Freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes nominate candidates for the Winter Wonderland Crown, worn this year by Tom Givan.

Santa also appears to add to the festivities of the afternoon hop sponsored jointly by GAA and the Lettermen's Club.

Howeites win awards

Bob Doyal was the choice of the Senior Class and faculty to represent Howe at United Nations in 1955. He toured all the buildings and sat in on the UN Sessions along with students from the other Indianapolis high schools.

Jacque Wooden was the recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award. The award is based on scholastic achievement, citizenship, and school service.

The Irvington Post of the American Legion each year presents an award to the outstanding junior boy and girl at Howe. This award is based on scholarship, citizenship, and leadership. The 1955 Legion Good Citizenship Awards were presented to Bob Doyal and Jacque Wooden.

Mr. Thomas Stirling, vice principal, presents a pin to Mr. Roscoe Pierson, welcoming him into the club for teachers who have been at Howe for 10 years.

Jacque Wooden and Bob Doyal operate the Howe switchboard before classes begin. Jacque received the D.A.R. Award, and Bob was Howe's representatives to the UN, and both received the American Legion Good Citizen Awards.

Howeites appear in public

Howe's Quiz-Em members are Steve Hanneman, Elaine Johnson, Julia Freeman, and Marcia Bransford.

Howe's Quiz 'Em team competes with other high schools on the air answering current event questions. They have successfully completed their first two rounds in the year round city tournament.

Howeites interests extend beyond the local affairs. Each year the Hi-Y organizes a model United Nations. This project enables the students to become acquainted with the actual procedure of the UN.

Scrib Sheafor, Bob Lanham, and Jack Abram bone up on United Nations news for the H-Y UN.

Airing their views are Dave Lichtenauer, Dave Stewart and Judy Pigman. Howe alumnus Norman Wilkens conducted the panel.

As a project for Speech Class, a broadcast was recorded based on a panel discussion of student opinion about the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra.

The purpose of the City Student Council is to enable each city high school council to know what other councils are doing. It also gives them an opportunity to get together on important problems which are common to all the city schools.

Our representatives to the City Council are Darlene Fly, Secretary, Fran Davis, and Nancy Hoffman.

The Howe Hoedown is a community affair that enables the residents of Irvington to take part in the fun at Howe.

This was the "Fifi's Follies" sponsored by the junior girls' club, Vihota. The idea was to throw hoops over the girls' legs.

Howeites participate in

There is a much wider scope to the picture of Howe than merely local school life. Howeites' activities reach out into the community as well and bring the community into the school. This is illustrated by the Open House in the fall, Howe Hoedown in the spring, the Pleasant Run Revue, Christmas Community Sing and other programs put on for the community. In these ways we can show the community what high school students of today are doing.

Ann Martin models with her little friend in the Style Show produced by the Clothing classes for the P.T.A. Each girl models garments that she, herself, has made.

The Howe Choir pantomimes and sings the gay song of "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" in the annual Christmas Community Sing.

school, community affairs

Bob Doyal serves as cadet teacher for Mr. Ruschhaupt's typing class. However most cadet teachers teach in the elementary schools.

Cadet Teaching is becoming an increasingly popular course with Howeites. Each student enrolled in Cadet Teaching spends 1 hour a day in one of the elementary schools, or in a class at Howe observing and helping the teacher in charge. They grade papers, give assignments, and dictate spelling lists. It is an excellent course to help meet and get along with people.

Camera records

Lots of books, registration cards, the Freshman Mixer, your first assembly program, are all a part of getting acquainted with the school that will be yours for the next four years.

Another year older, another year wiser finds you a sophomore. You know your way around school, you have the typical locker containing everything from your butterfly net to your afternoon snack, you know the school yells, and you are now a full-fledged Howeite.

Gary Powell and Barbara Hornaday trudge, book laden, upstairs with the thought that someday they may have classes with no homework.

Jane Robb (left) has the typical locker jammed with assorted books, bugs for biology, and even a butterfly net.

Time out for fun! One of the highlights of your Junior year is the Junior Prom. You've passed the halfway mark at Howe, and homework assignments seem to get larger. You have two classes, freshmen and sophomores, looking up to you now. You have begun to plan ahead for college or a career. You have but one more year at Howe and then graduation.

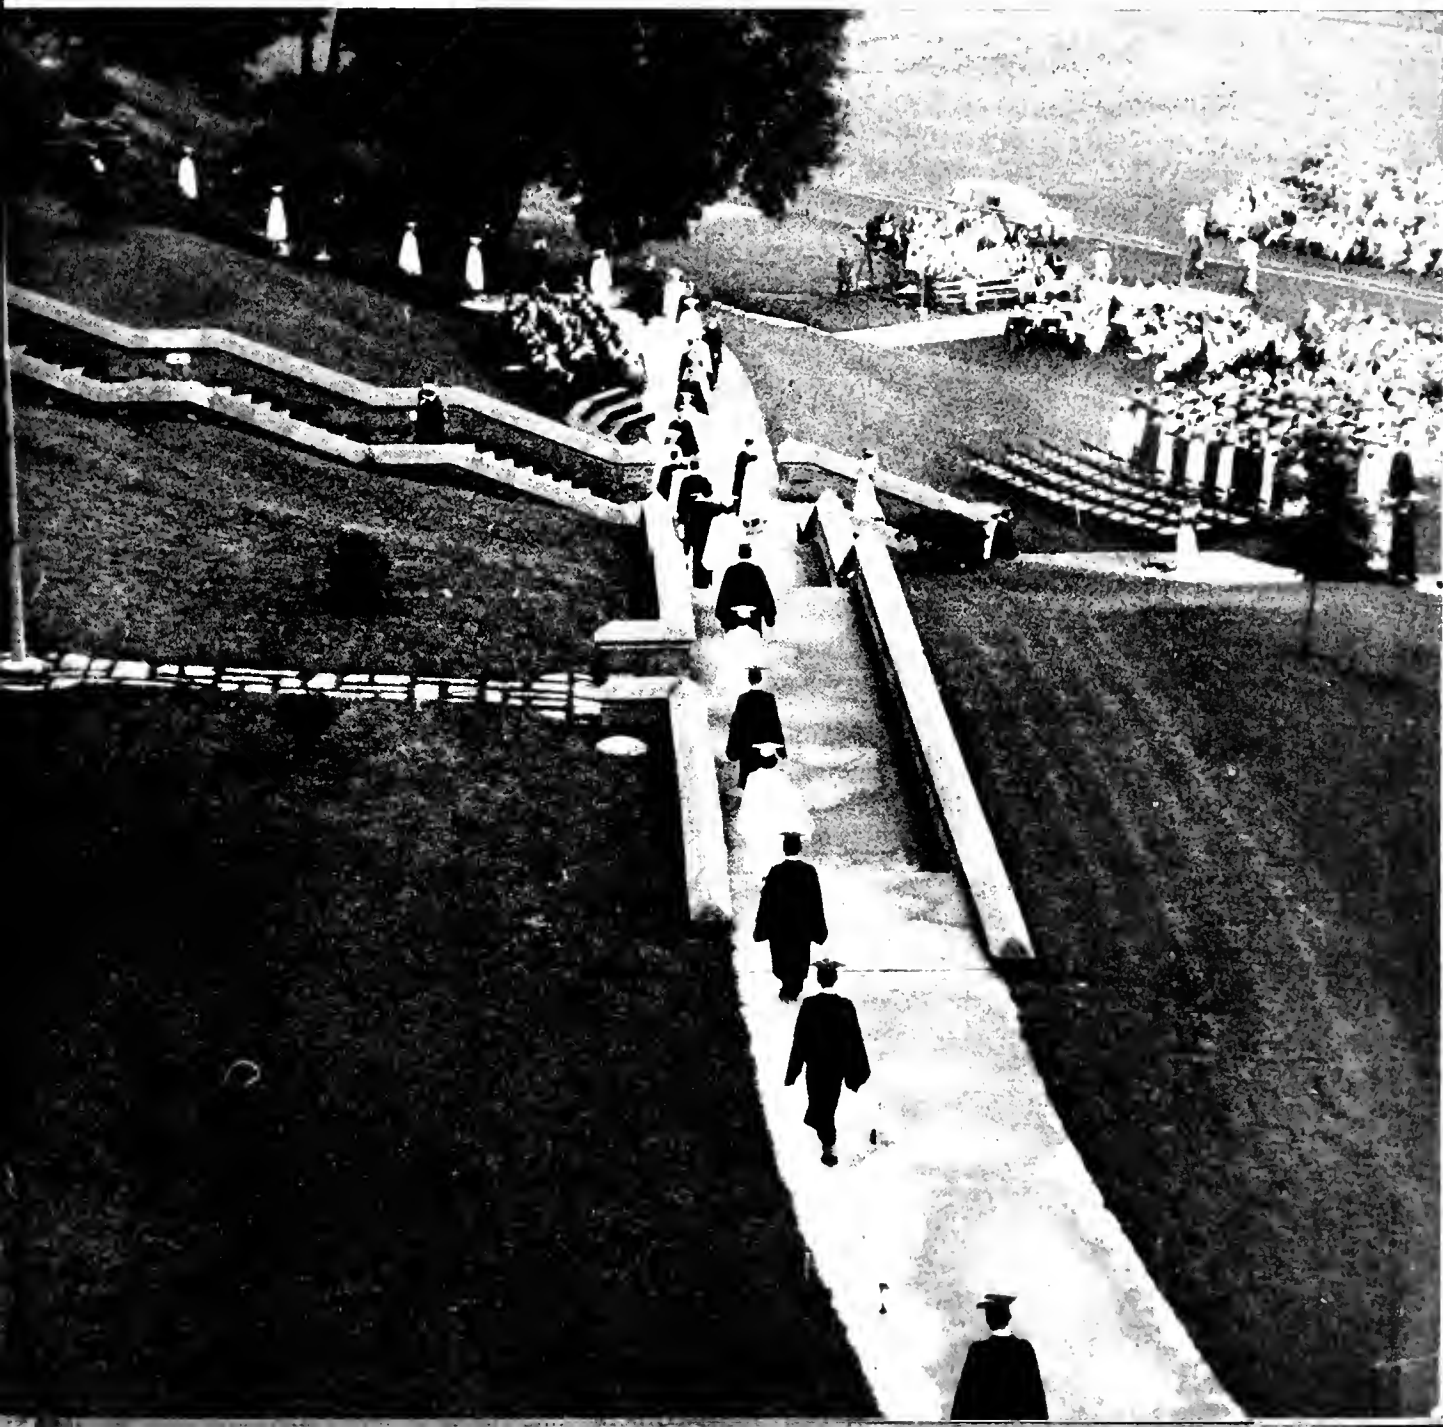

Steve Wise is right on time to escort Nancy Patton to the Junior Prom.

Howe memories

As a senior you have reached the completion of your Howe picture. You've had the coveted front row of seats in assembly; you've enjoyed senior home room, the senior play, class day, vespers, and now commencement is before you. It seems only yesterday that you were coming across the bridge as a freshman and now you are ready to return across the bridge, prepared to meet the future.

Howe's faculty, office staff, and students compose the largest part of Howe's picture because a school could not exist without the people.

The lives of 317 seniors and 1280 underclassmen are filled with studies, parties, dances, activities, and sports.

The HILLTOPPER now presents an important view of the picture of Howe—the PEOPLE . . .

Mr. Sharp stops by a popular place, the school bulletin board, to take a look at Howe in the news.

A very important part of our picture is Principal Charles MacKay Sharp, who has directed the activities of the school for all of Howe's 18 years. He has shown through the years a wise understanding of the many problems which occur in the administration of a school. He is known for his congenial fairness and cooperation in any student problem that may arise.

Under the guidance of Mr. Sharp, a gymnasium and cafeteria wing and then a new east wing for classrooms have been added to the school.

Howe's faculty members organize their time so that they can sponsor a large variety of extra-curricular activities such as clubs, athletics, publications staffs, and stage productions, in addition to teaching their classes.

Many of the 78 teachers have traveled to foreign countries to broaden their knowledge of the world and to enable them to teach about it from personal experiences.

A not to be overlooked part of Howe's picture is the office staff. They take care of student registry, attendance and guidance cards, the switchboard and clerical work.

Every member of the faculty, office, cafeteria and custodial staffs adds his bit of color to the picture of Howe.

Seniors will remember

This Senior year, as have the ones before, has been a hectic one, with everyone trying his best to get all the senior activities crammed into his schedule. Senior officers are kept busy appointing committees for colors, vespers, commencement and parties. Other seniors are busy having their pictures taken, ordering name cards and announcements, and being measured for caps and gowns, besides participating in all-school activities.

Impressively marking the end of the seniors' four years at Howe came the solemnity of commencement topped off by the gaiety of the prom.

For 302 Howeites the 1955-56 school year was probably their most important. The selection of their jewelry in the spring of '55 was their first official act as seniors. Then came the annual winter and spring parties, College Day to help those undecided seniors, the Senior Play, "June Graduate"; and last, ranking highest of all on their agenda, were vespers, commencement and their Senior Prom. They chose as their senior colors: green, the symbol of new life; gold, representing royalty; brown, signifying creative abundance. It was not only the special senior activities that climaxed their four years at Howe but there were also the dances, the PRR, friendly chats in the alcove, the assemblies, rushing down to lunch or hurrying to class trying hard not to be late. All of these things together made life at Howe the best.

People make the picture

1. Bill Reynolds portrays the average Howeite in English V doing "heavy" research work for his 2000 word essay. These essays are one of the highlights (?) of any junior's school year. 2. These gals look prepared, don't they? They're working at a booth for the Howe Hoedown. But someone isn't having much luck in throwing the hat over the gun. 3. The Grand March and the crowing of the Military Ball Queen were the highlights of Howe's first Military Ball. Queen Caroline Parker and escort lead the Grand March. 4. Everyone is in a hurry to leave—probably anxious to get home and start all that homework. That R.O.T.C. cadet on the right just can't get enough of school. He's going back for more. 5. The Latin club dramatized a Roman wedding at their annual Roman banquet in the spring.

With Jean Kovac as the bride and Larry Oswalt as the groom, everyone enjoys "doing as the Romans do." 6. Before dances many people find themselves elbow-deep in decorations of paint and crepe paper. Here Nancy Grahn and Pat Kerby paint a trellis for the 1955 Junior Prom. 7. With no net underneath? Jane Vogt does some fancy "hanging" during a GAA workout. 8. These guys are giving out with some very danceable music at the Hilltopper Spring Dance. They are known around Howe as Steve Hayward's band. 9. With editor Jane Vogt, members of the Atom Dust staff, Steve Wallace, Linda Heideleman, Larry Oswalt, Janet Fahrbach, Marilyn Jenkins, Bob Doyal, and Luanne Schneider, publish Howe's science paper.

Whether it's a musical organization, Student Council, the Pleasant Run Revue, or clubs, Howes flock to meetings with enthusiasm and interest.

Participation in school activities gives Howes the opportunity to make many new friends.

The Student Council Cabinet is elected by the Council in the first meeting of the year. It is composed of the officers, class representatives, and City Student Council representatives, and meets on alternate weeks. The meetings of the Student Council are planned at the Cabinet meetings.

At the left is a picture of a regular student council meeting. Secretary Darlene Fly is reading the minutes of the previous meeting.

During this past year room 20 has been the center of activity. This is the room where the student council meets. The council is made up of a representative from every homeroom, the representative to last year's city student council, the delegate to last year's state convention, and the delegate to last year's national convention. Three members were chosen to be on the Intra-City Student Council. This group meets once every three months at Broad Ripple High School.

Among the student council activities this year was a talent assembly. Any student within the school who thought he or she had a talent of some kind could audition. The assembly was repeated for the PTA.

The student council is called upon to help at many of Howe's affairs. Among these is the open house. Members of the student council were stationed throughout the school to direct people to the various displays in the rooms.

A committee is made up of student council members for the purpose of planning and producing special assemblies. Above is a scene taken at one of the student council assemblies.

HILLTOPPER

Another year brings forth another HILLTOPPER. Led by Darlene Fly as editor-in-chief and Jacque Wooden as associate editor, the 1956 HILLTOPPER staff has worked hard all year with hopes of again receiving the All-American Honor Rating for year-books.

Work on the book itself was started long before school began last September. During two weeks in July four staff members attended the Journalism Institute at Indiana University. They were Darlene Fly, Jacque Wooden, Carol Roesener, and Carol McPherson. It was here that the plans and layouts for the different sections of the book were made.

In addition to their regular staff duties, members also serve on committees for dances and parties. The "Turn About Twirl," where girl takes boy, is given in the spring. The coming of fall brings the traditional "Brown and Gold" with the Brown Boy and Golden Girl to reign over the dance.

Mrs. Jenkins gets the low down on the 1956 HILLTOPPER from editor Darlene and associate editor Jacque.

The HILLTOPPER has many deadlines, and none of them could have been met without help. For this we wish to express our sincere thanks to Mr. Earl C. Loudermilk, photographer; Mr. Richard Brier, the Indianapolis Engraving Company; and Mr. Robert G. Moorhead, Central Publishing Company.

This year, for the first time, there will be an index in the HILLTOPPER. Assisting on this index and doing other typing were Shirley Frey, Nancy Kendall, Betty Montgomery, Karen Sachs, Sally Turpin, Bonnie Van-Cleave, Carol Wilson, Helen Petzl, Dick Cordill, Carol Ellison, Nancy Cors, and Joanne Stevens.

TOWER

Up in Room 240 we find a group of students hard at work. Who are they? The staff members of the TOWER, Howe's newspaper. The TOWER is distributed in home-rooms every two weeks. Staff members are chosen by the staff from the previous year and come from Mr. Wayne Mellot's English VJ class. There they learned the fundamental principles behind journalistic writing.

TOP—Kitty, Sandy, Sally, and Dick are feverishly at work. The paper must go to press and the deadline is drawing near.

produces the news

Layouts and plans for the paper are done by the page editors. Reporters are then given assignments to follow up and report on. When the pages have been sent to the printer and have returned, it is then time for the proofreaders to get to work. They check the paper very closely to find any mistakes in the printing. Finally the completed paper is brought forth and we have another TOWER to be passed out in homeroom.

The TOWER also has a News Bureau staff that represents Howe on the various city newspapers.

Editor-in-chief Scrib and associate editor Sally discuss the stories to be written in the next issue of the HOWE TOWER.

Pleasant Run

March 22 and 23 were VIE days at Thomas Carr Howe High School. What are VIE days? Why, "Very Important Event" days, naturally. On these days the 13th annual Pleasant Run Revue was held. The plan of having student chairmen write scripts was successfully repeated this year. Chairmen were Nancy Keller and Sally Shake, "Planet Rendezvous"; Sandy Fotiades and Lynn Blair, "Holiday U. S. A.," and Margaret Johnson and Jeannie Kovac, "Rhythm in My Nursery Rhymes."

Faculty sponsors for the acts were Mr. Bruce Beck, Mr. Robert Turner, and Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt. General chairman and director of the Pleasant Run Revue was Mr. Darrell Gooch.

Revue

1. "Corybelle," an intermission act presented by Gail Archer and Vera Bowers.

2. "I Wish I Was A Car," presented by Kathy Wilkens and Dave Liechtenauer.

3. "Dance Specialty," presented by Jim Heath and Pat Erwood.

Howe's Business Managers promote and publicize all extra-curricular activities at Howe. Among their many duties are selling tickets and advertising the events. This year's staff is headed by Fred Green, with Larry Turner as house manager.

The Business staff of the HOWE TOWER is in charge of advertising and business operations for the school paper. Members of the staff sell and write the ads that appear in the TOWER. Nancy Grahn heads the business staff with Dave Harvey as advertising manager.

Both staffs are supervised by Mr. Paul Klinge.

Choir portrays gypsy life

"The Fortune Teller," an operetta with music by Victor Hubert, was presented by the Howe choir in February.

Leading characters were Lynn Blair as Musette, a gypsy fortune teller, and Larry Crandall as Sandor, a gypsy musician; J. Ellen Allison as Irma of the Grand Opera Ballet, and Dave Lichtenauer as Capt. Ladislaus; Steve Carter as Fresco and Dave Rush-ton as Count Berezowski.

The plot concerned retrieving a lottery ticket which had been stolen from King Gustaf, ruler of Livonia. To get the ticket back many complications arose, such as Irma's refusal to marry the Count. Musette, the gypsy, agrees to marry the Count for his money. She soon returns to her gypsy friends after tiring of royal life. The lottery ticket is finally found in the hands of Fresco, the ballet master.

Choristers bring

Howe's choir added many activities to its already busy schedule for the year. The big project of the choir was the "Fortune Teller," an operetta presented in February.

Under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins the choir sang at Open House in November and at the May Music Festival. Two recordings were made by this vocal group for the radio program, Young America Sings. During the Christmas season choir members presented a program at a neighborhood church and sang at the Christmas Community program and school assembly. They also appeared at Indiana Central College during the spring semester.

Traditionally Howe's choristers ended their season with appearances at Senior Vespers and Commencement.

Members of the choir are selected from the boys' glee club and choralaires, a musical organization composed of girls selected from the glee clubs. Most of the choir's activities are public performances outside of school. Rehearsals are held first period daily. This time is spent in learning and perfecting numbers for performances.

Favorite songs of the vocalists such as "O Mary Don't You Weep" and "Knick Knack Paddy Wack" echo down the hall as choir members leave the practice room after the first period. Rehearsals aren't all sober work. Some amusing incident almost always occurs. When "Pop" Watkins is late, usually one of the boys tries to direct, but for some reason it just doesn't sound the same!

Besides directing the choir, "Pop" has many other responsibilities. As chairman of the Music Department, Mr. Watkins directs the choir, chorales, girls' glee clubs and girls' octet, and supervises department activities.

"The Fortune Teller," an operetta presented by the choir, was under his direction. Many weeks were spent on this production.

"Pop" Watkins also has duties outside of school. He is the choir director and organist at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

In a typical pose at operetta rehearsals "Pop" Watkins directs the orchestra in the overture.

Musical selections on the lighter side as well as religious numbers were presented by the choir at the Community Christmas program. Howe's choir formed the procession singing "O Come All Ye, Faithful."

"Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" was one of the songs which the choir sang for their own enjoyment as well as for that of the audience. Some of the other selections were "Hallelujah from the Mt. of Olives," and "Twas the Night Before Christmas" with Larry Blossom as the soloist.

The boys' and girls' glee clubs, chorales, and the band also participated in the program.

Jim Marbach and Bob Endsley make their exit after producing sound effects for "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

Both the boys' and girls' octets have had many outside engagements as well as school programs during the year. The two octets sang at Indiana Central College during the spring semester. Programs for assemblies, the PRR and the Christmas program filled their time at school.

Members of the octets are chosen from the choir. The girls' octet is under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins and the boys' octet is directed by Mr. Robert Latherow.

Band has busy season

Majorettes McNierney, Lewis, Shogren, Bransford.

Hard work plus lots of time went into the formations displayed by Howe's band at football games. A series of different formations were presented at the half of every home football game. Four high-stepping majorettes added glamour to our band this year.

Special recognition goes to Jane Meyer, flute, Mack Klein, coronet, and Jack Gilfoy, drums, for their outstanding work at the state contest, where they received first place awards.

Playing for school assemblies was a regular assignment for the band this year. They also participated in the musical program before Open House and in the Community Christmas program. A small part of the band played for the musical selections in the PRR under the direction of Mr. Louis McEnderfer.

BACK ROW—Poulimas, Hunter, Mills. THIRD ROW—Doyal, Gilfoy, Lucas, Lash, Myer, Weber, Beeson, Brown, Paternoster, Calvert. SECOND ROW—Dove, Sulgrove, Miller, Knight, Knauer, Ros-

Orchestra has contest winners

There has been an increase of members in the orchestra this year. Many performances filled the spare time of these musicians. They performed, with the rest of the music department, at Open House in November. The orchestra also provided between-acts music for the Footlight Revelers' play and the senior play. The orchestra accompanied the vocalists in the production of "The Fortune Teller," the operetta presented in February and participated in the band-orchestra contest this year.

Several members received first and second place awards in both the district and state solo and ensemble contests. District winners were Janice Waterous, violin; Cheenu Rassmann, flute; and Janice Waterous, Emily Hale, Gloria Ealy, Dalene Mills, and Dick Willits, string ensemble. Only first place district winners are eligible to enter the state contest. State contest winners were Janice Waterous, violin; Cheenu Rassmann, flute; and the string ensemble which is mentioned above. These musicians have done well under the new director, Mr. Constantine Poulimas.

Rifle team wins city match

This is the second year for the R.O.T.C. at Howe. Battalion Commander is Lt. Col. Walter F. Bowles and Executive officer is Maj. John H. Ridge.

The rifle team placed first in the city, second in the state in the 5th Army Collegiate Match and fourth in the Hearst Trophy Match.

Sgt. Sherman Mossbarger is the instructor and is assisted by Sgt. G. B. Harstad.

Lights, curtain, action

This year the Revelers gave "Little Women" as their play. In February two plays were given for the Irvington Drama Club. They were "Tarnished Witherspoon" and "Neighbors."

Also in February the Revelers sponsored a Variety Show for the Hoedown sponsored by the P.T.A.

Some of the members of Revelers are also members of Thespians, national honor society for dramatics.

The officers for the club this year are: president, Kathy Wilkens; vice president, Kitty Whyte; scribe, Dave Lichtenauer.

All work is under the supervision and direction of Mr. Darrell Gooch.

End of the line

Seniors girls look forward to their last year which includes Hosegi.

On their schedule this year was a joint meeting with the Lettermen's club, preparing for stunt day, and giving a style show for the Howe Hoedown. Mrs. Loew, the dean of girls, also gave the girls some good tips about sororities.

Officers for this year are Carol Roesener, president; Kitty Whyte, vice president; Sandy Fotiades, secretary, Darlene Fly, treasurer. Miss Elaine Wolf is their sponsor.

Hosegi officers Kitty, Sandy, Carol and Darlene prepare club colors for ribbon day.

Looking over pictures of former Violet Queens are Vihota officers Carol, Gwen, Rita and Wally.

The junior girls, who are in Vihota, consider themselves to be pretty lucky. This club of girls are the ones who choose the candidates for Violet Queen to reign over the annual May Pageant.

If you noticed cute legs at the Howe Hoe-down it was probably some of the Vihota girls at their booth, "Fifi's Follies."

Other activities this year included a Valentine party, a Christmas party, and participation in stunt day.

Officers for the year are Carol Wilson, president; Rita Bolden, vice president; Gwen Barnett, secretary; and Wally Meredith, treasurer. Their sponsor is Mrs. Ruth Reed.

Football team scores

Listening to a panel discussing "Going Steady" are officers Shirley, Carol, Judy, Doris, and Melaine.

La Nina is the sophomore girls' club. Among their activities this year was a panel of football team members who attempted to explain the game to the girls.

Other activities included several joint meetings with the Vihota and Selofra clubs, a Valentine party, a demonstration on how to wrap and tie packages, and a talk on Cuba, with Mr. Turner as their speaker.

Officers this year are Carol Ellison, president; Judy Campbell, vice president; Melanie Layton, secretary; Shirley Frey, treasurer; Doris Vogt, program chairman.

The freshman year for most Howe girls includes Selofra. This busy girls' club has its calendar filled with such projects as Girls' Stunt Day, freshman mixer, and a style show. However, the year doesn't pass without having a panel of boys to speak on a special topic, or a beauty consultant, who gives them tips on attractiveness.

Officers are Gail Archer, president; Susie Parker, social chairman; Judy Stevens, secretary; Natalie Hunt, vice president; Vera Bowers, treasurer. Their sponsor is Miss Ellen O'Drain.

Practicing on the Selofra club song are officers Susie, Natalie, Gale, and Judy.

Lettermen display their awards

The young men who wear their brown or white letter sweaters are members of the Lettermen's club. They are ushers at basketball games, and other sports activities. They also work together with the GAA to sponsor the Winter Wonderland Dance. For the first time in several years the club has been quite active. They had a booth at the Hoedown in March. This June they had a picnic at a state park.

At the end of each sports season, they attend an athletic banquet, at which team members receive their letters or letter sweaters. They wear them proudly as a symbol of the work done to earn them.

Each team decides whom they want to represent them on the Athletic Board. This board is composed of one representative from each team, the coach of each team, the athletic director, Mr. Kelley, and the principal of the school, Mr. Sharp. This year Dick Patterson was president of the Lettermen's club. Other officers were vice president, Dave Stewart; secretary, Dick Brown; and treasurer, Clifford Oilar. The sponsor is Mr. Lyman Combs.

They practice their future

The Home Economics Club is very active at Howe. Every other week they have meetings which include many interesting demonstrations.

They began the year with a welcome party for all girls new to the club. They also held a Christmas and Valentine party.

All members seemed to enjoy the cake decorating demonstration as well as the gift wrapping, modeling, and showing of new and different fabrics.

Janet Bender was elected president. Other officers were Laura Swadner, vice president; Geraldine Bellows, secretary; Helen Petzl, song leader; and Sandy Fotiades, recorder.

The sponsor is Miss Lois Coy.

Linguists see the world

Members of the Latin, Spanish, and French clubs do see the world. They see how people in other lands used to live and how they live now. They learn through the use of pictures, slides and movies.

The newly organized French Club has been of great interest to French students.

Mr. Robert Turner, the sponsor of the Spanish Club, has educated the students a great deal about the customs of Spanish people.

The Latin Club held a "Toga Hop" in February. In April they had their big event of the year. The Latin Banquet was given in which Latin customs were carried out.

Hi-Ys give service

Howe's two Hi-Y clubs have been active this year. The Beta Hi-Y helps sell refreshments and check coats at school dances. The Senior Hi-Y has, among its many activities, sponsored record dances after home basketball games, as well as their annual Sweetheart Dance.

President of the Beta Hi-Y was Gary Holobeck. Other officers were Jake Smith, Dwight Genrich, Dave Siersdale, Bob Roberts, and Dave Harkins.

Bob Lanham was president of the Senior Hi-Y. Other officers were Bob Doyal, Scrib Sheafor, Jack Abram, Don Turner, and Bob Babcock.

These four clubs have been of help to the school. The Junior Red Cross Club fills gift boxes and sponsors the Red Cross drive. This club is a member of the Marion County Junior Red Cross. Members of the Cub Club act as cub reporters for the TOWER. They learn about journalistic writing which prepares them for more advanced work in future years. The Radio Club helps students learn about broadcasting techniques. They have given actual broadcasts. Members of the Science Club undertake, as their main project, the editing of the "Atom Dust." They have taken different trips and have had interesting speakers.

Led by a big line and fast backfield, the Hornets displayed an impressive 7-2 season. Starting with a bang the Hornets defeated arch-rival Tech for the first time in seven years. This victory sparked four more over Attucks, Manual, Noblesville, and Broad Ripple. In the sixth game Shortridge defeated Howe by six points in the first scheduled game between the two schools.

Howe next beat highly rated Anderson and won a close game from Warren Central. Minus the services of All-State halfback Cliff Oilar, who broke his collarbone in the Warren game, Howe lost the last game to a tough Washington team.

Most valuable player award went to Oilar, and Dave Stewart was honored for the best mental attitude. Team captains were Kent Stewart, Dick Brown, and Dave Stewart. Oilar and Don Sturm were elected to the All-State team.

Cagers have 12 - 8 record

Fielding an inexperienced but high-spirited team, the Hornets completed a commendable 12-8 season.

Starting the season against Washington, the netmen defeated the Continentals by 23 points and displayed an amazing show of scoring power. Traveling to Franklin next, the Hornets whipped the Bears in a close game. Opposing highly rated Connersville in the third game of the season, the team defeated them by nine points. Next to fall to the Hornets' sting were the Redskins of Manual. Suffering their first loss of the season, the team put up a good fight but lost to Broad Ripple by 3 points. Bounding back with a victory over Lawrence Central, the "B-Ballers" then lost their next game to Southport. Winning three from Columbus, Garfield of Terre Haute, and Shelbyville, they were finally stopped by a good Shortridge team.

Coming up against their arch-rival Tech, the Hornets lost 74-58, and in the next game Howe was bested by the number one team in the state, Attucks. Winning their next two from Ben Davis and Cathedral, the Hornets were beaten by New Albany 77-68. In their last two games, the netters finished the regular season with a win over Warren and a loss to Lebanon.

In the city tourney, Howe beat Manual but lost to Tech in the second round. In the Sectionals Howe defeated Harry E. Wood 81-55, but lost to Attucks in the second game.

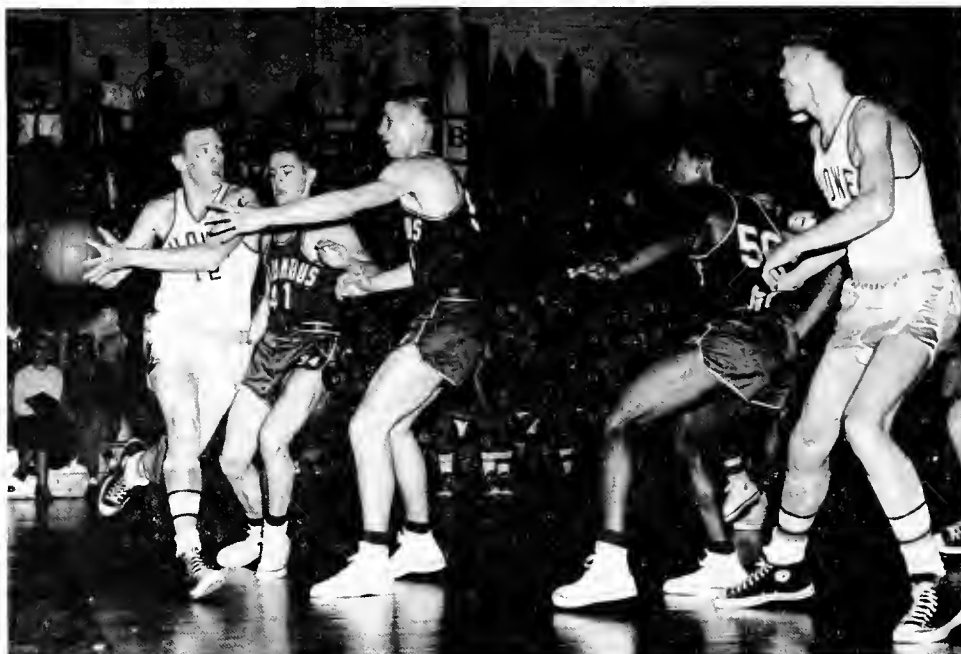

Kent Stewart, and Cliff Oilar were elected co-captains while Dick Patterson received the award for the best mental attitude. Kent Stewart also received the most valuable player award.

Howe's baseball squad, under Coach Rocky Pierson, posted the best season in the history of the school. Showing the spark which led them to a 12-5 season, the Hornets breezed over their first six opponents: Lawrence Central, Greenfield, Attucks, Southport, Shortridge, and Franklin.

In the seventh game, they were defeated by a highly rated Broad Ripple team. In their next eight games, the Hornets won five while losing three.

In the City Tournament, Howe lost their second game to the Tech Greenclads, even though Howe's star sophomore pitcher, Dave Peters, gave up but one hit, the Greenclads squeezed out a 1-0 victory.

At the end of the season, Don Layton finished with the highest batting average, and was chosen captain by his teammates. The Ted Guthrie Award for most improved player was given to Dave Peters, while Mike Lefler received both the Donald Clapp Award for the Best All-Round Athlete and Most Valuable Player Award.

The reserve team coached by Mr. Forest Witsman recorded a 4-3 season. The glovemen beat Broad Ripple, Tech, Ben Davis, and Manual, while losing to Washington, Shortridge, and a second time to Washington.

Displaying an impressive season, the spike-sters, coached by Ray Bowman and captained by Pete Shick, compiled an 8-2 record. The Hornets showed a well balanced scoring attack in both track and field events. At the annual spring banquet, Cliff Oilar was chosen most valuable player and Jim Burck received the award for the best mental attitude. In the Hoosier Relays, sponsored by Howe, the cinder-men won three events and placed third in two others.

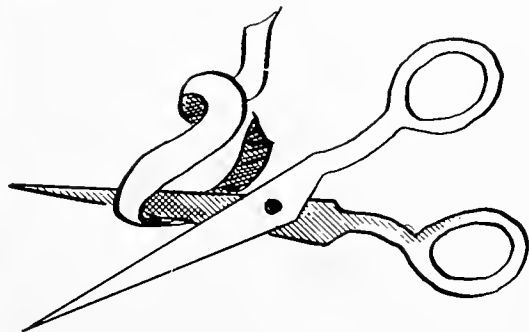

The Hornets, winning their first four meets from Warren, Bloomington, Ben Davis, and Lawrence Central, finally were stopped by a strong Broad Ripple team. After losing their second straight to Attucks, the cindermen won their remaining four matches, defeating Southport; Warren and Manual in a triangular meet; Columbus, and Noblesville.

Managers help teams

The student athletic managers assist the coaches and players at practice and at all Howe athletic events. They do the necessary tasks of keeping the team properly equipped, treat minor injuries, and tend to other needs of the athletes.

Mr. Lyman Combs directs the group in managing Howe's seven athletic teams. The managers deserve a lot of credit for the fine job they do through out the year.

G.A.A Offers Variety

PYRAMID TOP TO BOTTOM—Juanita Barker, Mara Isaks, Judy Fouts, Ann Johns, Jane Vogt, Roselyn Elich.

Howe's Girls' Athletic Association offers a wide variety of activities to its many members. Mrs. Betty Burton sponsors the group with the assistance of Jane Vogt, president.

Heading the list of fall sports are speedball and bowling. During the winter the volleyball team takes to the floor. This was the first year for the G.A.A. volleyball team to play interschool games. Other sports the girls enjoy during the cold months are basketball, swimming at the Y.W.C.A., and apparatus practice. When the weather becomes warmer, the girls take softball and bat in hand for a rousing game out on the campus.

Each year the G.A.A. and the Lettermen's Club sponsor the Winter Wonderland Dance.

In addition to its other activities G.A.A. participates in a statewide telegraphic bowling tournament, and the annual playday at Bloomington. They compete in many tests offered by the G.A.A. State Association. Members receive their awards which are given on the basis of points accumulated by outstanding participation in G.A.A. events at the Spring Banquet.

Dear
I am well and hope you are too. I am in the history class with you.
I am looking for the future at home and abroad.
